Gigantic Whale To Be Seen At Bay Saint Louis

The gigantic whale captured only a few weeks ago after a thrilling battle off San Clemente Island on the southern California coast will be on exhibition in a special car on the railroad, siding at L. & N. Depot, Thursday and Friday, February 2 and 3. The spectacle of the huge creature, more than sixty-five feet long and weighing seventy-two tons, is declared to be one of the most unusual ever seen here.

Perfectly preserved by a remarkable use of the embalmers art, the immense mammal presents a sight that has held the absorbed interest of large crowds. The whale is a finback and is said to be one of the largest and finest specimens of the kind ever taken by a whaling crew.

An idea of the size of the whale is given by the fact that the heart, when removed in connection with the embalming process was found to weigh 1286 pounds, while the tongue weighed 600 pounds. It required a 90-ton crane to lift the massive bulk from the water at Long Beach, California.

Some Crash

For a long time the visitor to the great museum stood gazing at the Egyptian mummy swathed in bandages. "Tell me one thing," he ventured.

"What is it, sir?" asked the guide.

"Was it a motor or an airplane accident?"—Boston Transcript.

The Wrong Companion

"Ah," sighed the sentimental girl, "I could sit and gaze at the moon for hours."

"Would I were the man in it," said the youth who wasn't the one. "I agree with that," she replied wearily, "then you should be several hundred thousand miles away!"—Auckland News.

Former Resident of Clermont Is Bride of Louisiana Man.

A Natchez newspaper carried the following, dated January 14, under the date line of Harrisonburg, La., and is of local interest, since the bride mentioned is a former local resident and a graduate of Bay High School, '21.

The clipping from the Democrat will be read with interest:

The lovely angel "Cupid" made his aim, and won. The wedding of Miss Herta Eugene Garcia, and Mr. Charles Baxter Brown, was quietly and impressively solemnized on Friday evening, January sixteenth, nineteen hundred and thirty three, in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Price of Jonesville, who performed the ceremony that made this happy couple man and wife.

The bride is the popular and charming daughter of Mrs. Joseph Garcia of Clermont, Miss.

The groom is the popular son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brown of Harrisonburg. The bride has been in our community only two months and everyone who has had the privilege of associating with her esteems her in every sense of the word for her gracious manner, and pleasing personality. She was sent to Harrisonburg from New Orleans, as stenographer for the Unemployment Relief Committee, and deserves credit in the way she has conducted her work, so each one is wishing her much happiness and congratulating Mr. Brown on having won this charming young lady as his co-partner in life. Their many friends are glad to have her remain in our community. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will be at home to their many friends on Main street in Harrisonburg.

Silver Communion Set Stolen From Christ Episcopal Church

Some unknown party or parties entered Christ Episcopal church, head Carroll avenue, and stole the silver communion set, composed of four pieces, including the chalice. The set was a gift to the church by Mrs. John N. Stewart, and valued both for its worth and the fact it had been a gift to the church by his generous benefactress.

The church is authorized to state that if the set is returned to the church no questions will be asked, neither will prosecution proceedings be instituted.

Lodger—Yes, but I'm no swan.

CITY CUTS NUMBER OF LIGHTS

Mayor Says There Will Be Approximate Savings of Fifteen Hundred Dollars

At a special meeting of Mayor and City Commissioners, held at the City Hall Monday morning an order was adopted where 106 lights over the city are to be discontinued, including the electric sign at the L. & N. railroad depot. These lights are temporarily, that is, until such time will justify reinstating part or all of the number.

The Secretary was ordered to notify the Mississippi Power Company which letter was written the same day.

Mayor Blaize said that would be an approximate saving of fifteen hundred dollars per annum to the city and tax-payers, and was done by him and the commissioners for saving the taxpayers money and for making their burden lighter.

Mayor Blaize and Commissioners W. L. Bourgeois and H. Grady Perkins are striving towards the goal of operating the city at the minimum cost, yet without injuring the city or depriving the majority of such improvements as possible.

The Echo has always been of the opinion, as expressed in these columns, that the biggest improvement for the city just now would be to lower the taxes as far as consistent with intelligent and satisfactory government.

City Gives Warning To Boys and Girls Who Shoot Toy Guns

Mayor Blaize has ordered police to arrest all violators of the law prohibiting the use of small guns used by children in the killing of song birds and other small game within the city limits. Many children, he says received BB guns and other similar small weapons as Xmas gifts and are violating a law to say nothing of destroying the many birds that fill our beautiful trees with the music of their song.

A gun in the hands of a boy or girl is dangerous at any time and of no use. One cannot understand why parents allow their children such toys that are dangerous and destructive. It is unlawful.

Meeting of Hancock County Council of Parent-Teachers Ass'n.

The Hancock County Council of Parent-Teachers' Associations met last Friday afternoon in the office of Supt. McQueen with splendid reports from a number of the locals.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips, County President, presided and heard reports from Mrs. Sidney Prague of St. Joseph Academy; Mrs. R. B. Logan of Bay Central; Mr. Baker for the new association at Dedaux and Mrs. John Craft for new association at Edwardsville. Written reports from Lakeshore, Logtown, Waveland and Taylor were read. They showed a total increase in membership of 50 per cent for the county; six had already paid state dues and a number reported subscription to Mississippi Parent-Teacher and Child Welfare.

At the next meeting, plans will be made for the County Convention to be held in March. It was announced that the State convention, usually held in April had been postponed to October by a majority vote of the Board of Managers.

Death of Sheriff Of Harrison County Wednesday Night

A message from Mayor Kennedy at Biloxi Wednesday night announced the death of Cleve Huggins in that city as a result of flu and double pneumonia, which news came as a shock to many along the coast.

Sheriff Huggins had been ill for the past few days but refused to give up his work. He finally was forced to surrender and died soon after.

Mr. Huggins resided at Biloxi. He was a native of Pascagoula, aged 42 years and is survived by Mrs. Huggins and two children. He was a graduate of St. Stanislaus College, Glass 1905.

He was a warm personal friend of Clerk of the Courts, A. G. Favre of this city, who attended the funeral Thursday afternoon, with others from Hancock county, including Sheriff T. Ed. Kellar, Emilio Cue and Joseph V. Bontemps.

BASKET BALL

The Gold Jays were coupled against Pascagoula in a game at the College gym last Tuesday night. On account of the doubleheader scheduled for that night the quarters were shortened by two minutes, so that before they had time to realize it the game was over and the Jays found themselves victorious over their opponents by a score of 30-14.

GOLD JAYS MEET KILN AT S. J. A. GYM MONDAY JANUARY 30.

The team from Kiln is the next in line to meet the Jays. Kiln has always given the Gold Jays a good fight and we feel this game will be no exception to the rule. The game is to take place in the S. J. A. Gym Monday, January 30, at 8:00 P. M. There will more than likely be a double-header that night as the Kiln boys will meet another team from

SCHUBERT MUSIC CLUB ENTERTAINED WED. AT S. J. A. MUSIC ROOM

Feature Is Reading of Original Paper by Miss Margaret Green—Other Numbers.

The Schubert Music Club held a regular monthly study program Wednesday afternoon in the Music room of St. Joseph's Academy. The club patronesses were their only guests, and this meeting was the first of a series that the members and patronesses will hold together. Several instrumental solos, two choruses by the club and a paper on the Oratorio, made up the program. Miss Margaret Green presented her subject in a most clever way and outlined briefly the important steps in the development of the oratorio up to the present day. All in the audience were in accord that Miss Green advised delivered her paper, which was instructive as well as very interesting. The chorus numbers were well rendered and all members deserve praise, as well as the directress, Miss Eveline Lacoste.

The piano solos by Mrs. Carl Smith and Miss Marie Louise Renard were in tune with the other music of the afternoon and were thoroughly enjoyed by all present. After the program refreshments consisting of punch and cake were served in one of the downstairs rooms. The table was tastefully decorated with fern and red carnations.

The complete program follows: Welcome, by Mrs. W. W. Stockstill, president.

CHILDREN OF MARY DELIGHTED WITH RESULTS OF THEIR CARD PARTY.

The card party sponsored by the Children of Mary last Thursday was a grand success. The proceeds which will go towards lessening the gym debt were approximately $36. A few stray nickels and dimes are still coming in and the raffle of the five pound box of candy is not yet completed, so that by the end of the week the Children of Mary feel certain that they will have reached their goal for this party—$40 net.

In the afternoon a minor party was given for the children and miscellaneous games were played. In the evening the card party for the grown-ups took place; there was a delicious home-made cake for each individual table.

The Children of Mary feel that their success with the card party is due to the wonderful cooperation which they received from all those to whom they appealed for help. Not only did the girls of the Sodality itself show a praiseworthy good will but many ladies from the outside came generously to their aid. To all of these the Children of Mary wish to express many thanks.

Dear Diary— Since basketball started I've neglected you terribly but I mean to make it up. Isn't it nice not to worry over mid-term exams? Of course, Washington will make up for them (and how?) but that's in the dim future.

Did you know that the Children of Mary made about $40.00 on their card party last week? Isn't that wonderful? They are raffling a large box of candy and if I'm not the winner, I'll see that I'm one of the winner's friends.

Nothing exciting happened in school save an English quiz and that could hardly be termed exciting. Tennyson would turn over in his grave if he'd see how we got his quotations mixed.

Well, as usual, I must study and next week—Oh that's another story! So long.

BENEFIT SUPPER AT 'BLUE HEAVEN' ON PASS CHRISTIAN BEACH

Bay St. Louis Joins In With Coast Friends Who Patronize Affair at Home of Miss L. C. Del Bondio

Miss L. C. Del Bondio's beautiful and hospitable home, "Blue Heaven," on Pass Christian beach, was a brilliant and happy scene Sunday night on the occasion of a benefit supper, given under the direct auspices of Miss Jane Lang and Miss Hazel Abbley, representing the Catholic academy alumnae of that place.

Each month some benefit is given by members to help defray the cost of the school building constructed by the church parish some time since, and in this way the aggregate makes the effort worth while. In addition Coast people are liberal in their response.

But no-response has been more liberal than the supper given on this occasion. Over 225 suppers were served between the hours of 6 and 9. The delicious cooking, the menu and generous portions were more of a dinner. Miss Del Bondio personally supervised and "checked" every plate that came out of the kitchen.

Miss Abbley was door keeper and cashier while Miss Lang served as general superintendent, graciously and ably assisted by Miss Marie Bertrand, member of Miss Del Bondio's family.

The tea girls were Misses Nathalie McCollister, Ione Abbley, Margaret Wittmann, Rita Lizana.

Guests from Bay St. Louis included Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Kenney, Mrs. H. P. Burbank, Dr. and Mrs. Alvah P. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal, Dr. and Mrs. James A. Evans, Mrs. Edw. NOVEMBER TORNADO AND "LAME DUCKS."

REPUBLICANS have sharp eyes. They see things sooner than anyone else. In fact, they see things that the future never discloses to anybody. Their latest discovery is that the Democracy, judged by the present Congress, which is of a pronounced Democratic hue, is inefficient. The same argument was offered during the last presidential campaign. What the voters thought of that argument forms a dismal page in Republican political history.

The Congress now in session is cluttered with lame ducks, and impeded in constructive effort by a disillusioned and disgruntled minority, potent for six weeks longer as a trouble-maker. A discredited executive holds the veto power, but has no suggestions to offer. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to serve as President while he is still a private citizen, and modestly willing to remain such until the day of his actual power arrives.

The November tornado demolished a great number of useless structures, but the rubbish still lies about. The Democratic party is picking its way slowly and wisely through the debris. Some of it is heavy and hard to move, but the general clean-up is at hand. The fourth of March is not far away.

ADVISES NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

FROM an exchange we pick up the following circular, sent out to store managers by the J. C. Penny company, operators of a large chain of retail stores:

"(1) Do you want to be certain of reader interest? Then use the newspapers. Many a circular receives only a glance, while the local newspaper, with hundreds of general news items, is read thoroughly from first to last page.

"(2) Do you want representation in the same 'shopping window' as the other merchants of your town use? Then use the local newspaper. Women, the purchasing agents of the home, read newspaper advertising daily, whereas many a circular is tossed into the waste basket without a glance.

"(3) Do you want fast action? Then use the newspaper. The ad that you run today, if it contains real merchandise news, will bring immediate results tomorrow. You can receive and sell out a consignment of merchandise with newspaper advertising in less time than it takes to prepare a circular.

"(4) Do you want to be recognized as a factor of importance in your community—a real hometown store? If you do, use the newspaper—it undoubtedly is a strong factor in the building of good will and acceptance by the whole town as a good place to trade."

CONCERNING FORECLOSURES

IOWA farmers, exerting pressure against the sale of real estate under foreclosure, express a natural resentment against the evils of "hard times."

Of course, there are those who readily denounce the protestants as "agitators" but the question has, at least two sides. During the present depression real estate is sold at a sacrifice, and forced sales seldom bring anything like real, much less, normal value.

One of the main causes of the agitation is the "deficiency judgment," which is left hanging over the harassed loser of property like a funeral pall. Not only does he lose his land, given up under stress of unusual and abnormal conditions, but, in addition, the effort is made to hold over him a judgment for the balance due when the land fails to bring the amount of the mortgage.

In several states there is agitation for a law delaying forced sales and in others an outright moratorium on foreclosures during the next few years. The advocates maintain that ways can be found to render the holder of the mortgage reasonably secure and that the mortgagor will be given a chance to make good in the future. We are not advocating such a law in this state at this time, but the idea is not as radical nor as absurd as some would have it appear.

Continued pressure against mortgage foreclosures is being exhibited in all sections of the nation.

Business will pick up when producers have money left over after selling their products and paying expenses.

Many communities, which voted bonds several years ago, are now wishing that the enthusiasm had been less rampant.

Thousands of farmers and home-owners face the prospect of losing their real estate unless some quick relief comes their way.

Classified ads are what many people use to sell old articles and unused material. Very often they result in some surprising sales.

Depression has had effect on every branch of human endeavor and being but not affecting crime. It is noted the daily press carries more front page stories of this character than heretofore. It has been said that crime and poverty over flourish. And frequently they are partners in sin.

CHAIRMAN STONE SAYS TAX-PAYERS AUTHOR OF OWN BURDENS

CHAIRMAN A. H. Stone, of the Mississippi State Tax Commission, addressed some three hundred or more people at Gulfport last Thursday, following a luncheon served at a hotel of that city. This event was under auspices of Gulfport Rotary Club and members of six other Rotary Clubs of the Mississippi Coast, and a number of specially invited guests were present. It was noted Bay St. Louis club was well represented.

Chairman Stone had no set talk, he revealed. He said the sales tax was easy to collect and facetiously said it was a "painless extraction." He told how the State was divided into sixteen groups, how the money was collected and later gave figures from the three counties of the coast since the collection was in vogue. He said in five months, from May to October the total sum of $1,173,721.15 had been collected by the State as a whole. An average monthly per capita of 9.7c. For Hancock county, over the same period, $6,677.10, a monthly average for Hancock of 9.8 per capita.

Speaking of taxes in general, ad valorem, he said the State collected only 8 mills. The trouble, he continued, with the people who cry high taxes, was with themselves. "You have voted for these heavy and many domestic bond issues in the different counties, and this was your own home burden. Do not blame the State."

That local bond issues, mortgaging the future as well as the present is an evil we have indulged in without much thought. Unfortunately, we have issued these within too short a space. Surely we wish improvement. But apparently, we tried to do too much in so short a time.

Chairman Stone's talk was well received. Intelligent and fair. No one could object to his argument and presentation of facts and figures, which best told the tale.

He was introduced by Hon. Barney Eaton of Gulfport.

A SUBJECT OF TAXES.

ACCORDING to press intelligence Governor Conner of Mississippi is in demand over the country, invitations from various States and other sources seeking him to tell of the success of the sales tax as applied.

Mississippi has received nation-wide advertising from this new form of taxation and it is noted that either Gov. Conner or the State has a good press agent department that is functioning without being remiss. Or the success of the form of raising funds to help balance the budget itself is good advertising. However, Mississippi is in the limelight. We note that periodically the press carries amounts realized and then comparison figures follow.

It is understood a special session of the legislature is in the making, according to published statement. It is said Gov. Conner has signified his intention of asking for an increase over the 2 per cent with a view, either in excuse or extenuating the reason for increase, that it is his intention to exempt the homesteader to and over a certain set limit of value.

All of these are interesting subjects and details that only time will work out. And it remains to be seen just how the scheme will register. It might be early as yet to say the sales tax, with a probability of its increase, will ultimately prove a success. We are of the opinion that remains to be seen. However, in the absence of any other method of creating revenue for the State, it will serve for the present as the best way. But this sales tax, while considered successful, is another burden to the tax-payers in addition to the many taxes to which we are subjected. No matter what is said and done, the tax-burden continues to increase. It is just another dose of medicine, but sugar-coated. Some take their medicine straight, others diluted with water, some in capsule, and—others in sugar-coated form.

FILIBUSTERS

THE filibuster of Senator Long, of Louisiana, against the Glass banking reform bill, recalls the fact that the Norris amendment against "lame duck" Congresses is fast being adopted by the states and will make ineffective such tactics.

The essence of the filibusterer's power lies in the forced adjournment of Congress on March 4th. If he, or they, succeed in delaying action in the Senate long enough, the necessary supply bills will be jeopardized, thus forcing other senators to give up their measure or else compel an extra session.

The filibuster has been resorted to in the past by hopeless minorities, determined to block legislation which they opposed, regardless of the result. Whether a filibuster is good or bad depends largely upon what one thinks of the bill being attacked.

FARM RELIEF NEEDED NOW

THE measure to give some relief to farmers is having a rough road in Washington, and what finally comes through will probably be vetoed by President Hoover, thus leaving the problem up to the incoming administration.

There seems to be abundant evidence of a spirit to help the agriculturists, but just how is a matter of dispute. However, in view of the fact that nearly one-tenth of the nation's farms have gone under forced sale during the past few years whatever is to be done should be done immediately if it is to be real help to the farmers. The Echo is not inclined to be captious about farm relief. It is the paramount necessity in this country today. Until some measure of parity is given to agriculture there will be, in our opinion, no permanent recovery of anything that looks like American prosperity.

Getting something for nothing is the source of much of our public and private debts.

The auto didn't do so bad last year—it killed 29,000 people in the United States.

SAUNTERINGS. From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS
(For the Sea Coast Echo)

A DREARY afternoon. An impenetrable canopy of murky grey hangs above the city. An atmosphere of platitudes is everywhere in evidence. The gaunt, haunted face of a twitching street beggar suggests a mind depressed—the last ounce of courage and fight sapped... with but only one escape from the burden of misery, shame and futility, that is his share of life's bitter offering. But, perhaps he will drift along... His hard luck story will get him by, somehow... provide the damnable hope for a 'shot in the arm,' and a cot in a bug-infested 'flop house'... prolong, for a short time, his dissipated life's flame, until it flickers out gradually... or on some other murky day or night, he may decide to end it all.

HERE'S A PICTURE YOU'LL NOT FORGET!

BEFORE the show window of a jewelry store stood the form of a young woman. She seemed totally unaware of the blowing mist and sloppy pavement underfoot as she lingered there, gazing with enraptured longing at the array of costly diamond rings on display.

Her general appearance marked her as one to whom luxuries and finer things of life had ever been strangers... belonging to contrasting environments—worlds apart.

Unknowingly, after a time, she lifted her hand, as if visualizing how the ring she might have chosen would look upon her finger. Perhaps she was trusting that a fairy tale miracle would chance into her drab existence and fulfill her wish, as it did for Cinderella. But the weather was in no mood to tolerate idle fantasy. A sudden downpour brought an abrupt end to this young woman's day dreaming, as she hastily scampered for shelter.

A bit later we chanced upon this same young woman in a 5 and 10 cent store, half block's distance down the street. She was standing now before the jewelry counter. Gone was the sad, longing look from her eyes. Enthusiastically she was fitting different rings upon her work-roughened finger. And they were diamonds... cheap imitation diamonds... glittering brightly beneath the store lights.

"Darling, don't you have a larger stone in this size ring?" she was inquiring of the flippant, platinum blonde, store girl. And then added: "You see, Honey, I want to match my diamond ring. It isn't safe to wear the real thing these days. Too many crooks going around. She lied vainly trying to convince the saleslady, whose blank, quizzical stare plainly registered her unspoken thought... "Oh, Yeah?"

ANOTHER GRETA GARBO AFFECTATION.

BOOTS have come into the spotlight again. Most of the little tots are sporting high boots of assorted colors and styles. The price of this type of footwear is no higher than ordinary shoes for children, declares inform.

A prolonged session of rainy weather has made riding boots the fad of the moment with high school girls, and grown ladies as well. The boots are worn with street clothes, and lend an exotic charm to the wearers, as they clog along the street with military strides.

Maybe the idea was suggested by a recent Garbo picture. Be what may, we find quite a few of the girls in drug stores talking in way-down-in-chest voice... deliberately inhaling cigarettes, and downing their drink in imitation "Anna Christie" a la Garbo style.

THE EFFECTIVE GREEN TEXAS AUTO TAG PASSES.

TEXAS 1933 license for private cars are of white background with orange numbers. Motorists have until January 31st, to purchase the new plates without added penalty. The majority of cars observed on the streets and highways still have the familiar green and white license plates of last year.

As the final days approach, San Antonio's courthouse will be jammed with motorists seeking to escape extra payment. For several years the past, long lines have formed at this time. These last minute buyers will be forced to stand for several hours in the slow-moving procession to the license clerk's window. Then if there is some defect in transfer papers or the like, and they must come back later... will they be hot under the collar?... Don't ask foolish questions.

NO. 13 SUPERSTITION WILL NEVER DOWN.

Officials in charge of the motor license department get a close up of human nature. Favored motorists request the same number plate each year. Those who cannot memorize their license number ask for "easy numbers" or "pretty numbers alike." The superstitions howl if number 13 appears on their new plates.

(Texas autos must have a plate both in front and rear). One lady tried to refuse a license because the total figures added 13.

Urges Enforcement of Measure to Save Song Birds on Coast

(Biloxi Herald)

Conservationists of wild life in Biloxi are urgently requesting the enforcement of the laws on non-game and song birds, hundreds of which have been wantonly killed by small boys and others during the past several months. A close watch for violators will be kept. Officials of the local game and fish organization say that those caught killing song birds will be placed under arrest and their guns confiscated.

Violations have been committed all about the city, and particularly in the neighborhood of Bay Terrace. Many of the youngsters received air rifles and 22 calibre rifles for Christmas and this has become their favorite hunting grounds. Their toll of the song birds there alone has been great. During the Fall and early Winter, there were hundreds of mocking birds in this area. Everywhere one looked he could see them flitting about, but at present there are few songsters and on the ground one frequently encounters the re-

School Students to Be Given Special Police Protection Afternoons

Mayor Blaize has ordered a special police stationed at the Bay High and Central School every school day from 12 to 1 and from 3 to 4 o'clock in order that students may be guarded from the many possible hazards at the intersection of streets at that place.

In stating his intention for so doing, Mayor Blaize said not only the children are due protection at that point because of the large number attending both Central and High but as well for the fact the Old Spanish Trail parallels the north side of the school while on the other hand many travelers going through use Carroll avenue as well because of its smooth paved surface. The order has already gone into effect.

ACTUAL CONSTRUCTION N. O.-GULF COAST SHORT- CUT IN FEATURE ARTICLE

Dredges Piling Up Fills For 60-Mile Route to 'Riviera'— Arduous Journeys of Few Years Ago Recalled as New Road Becomes Certain; U. S. Funds Used.

By Fred Cumbs in N. O. Times-Picayune.

Sixty miles driving distance, only 90 minutes by average automobile, will separate New Orleans and the Mississippi Gulf Coast when the new short-cut highway and bridges, which were started during the past week are completed.

The Gulf coast's shimmering water line and vacation attractions will be brought practically to the door of New Orleans; and similarly, Carnival, theaters, metropolitan stores and other attractions of the city will be brought nearer the Gulf Coast citizens.

Start of the construction of the shorter route to the coast brings close to realization a 10-year-old dream of civic organizations and public spirited citizens of New Orleans and the Mississippi Riviera.

Out in the marsh east of the Rigolets bridge nearly a dozen large pile drivers, suction pumps and other machinery have started throwing up an embankment for the highway.

Crews are erecting basins for beginning construction of six bridges along the route.

Eliminate Long Drive

At last, the long, unnecessary drive along United States Highway No. 90 north by way of Pearl River and through the Honey Island swamp is to be eliminated.

Another reason why the Old Spanish Trail through New Orleans, as this route is popularly known, should be a still more popular year-round transcontinental touring artery, bringing larger numbers of tourists through the city, is being created.

Following the recent signing of contracts for the embankment of Louisiana's nine-mile section of this short cut, for five highway bridges and for the state's share of the cost of an interstate bridge over East Pearl river near Pearlport, contractors have begun work in earnest on the long-discussed highway improvement. Cost of the work will be paid with federal aid funds.

Motorists crossing the Rigolets bridge approximately 32 miles east of New Orleans may see one of the suction dredges pumping fill to form the embankment from a point near the end of the bridge eastward.

Three Contracts Let.

This work is being done under one of three embankment contracts recently let by the Louisiana Highway Commission. The first contract covers the route between the Rigolets and Salt Bayou and was awarded to Jahneke Service, Inc., of New Orleans on a bid of $199,549. This section of the project is 2,671 miles long.

The second and third sections of embankment, comprising 2,026 miles of the project between Salt Bayou and Caruthers Landing, and 3,268 miles between Caruthers Landing and East Pearl river, were let to McWilliams Dredging Company of New Orleans. The bids on these sections were $67,895 and $436,155 respectively.

Contract for the five bridges over streams in Louisiana's section of the short cut was awarded to W. Horace Williams of New Orleans for a total of $404,652.

Bridges Listed.

These bridges will span Salt bayou, West Middle river, Middle Middle river, East Middle river and West Pearl river.

A joint contract for the substructure of the interstate bridge over the East Pearl river has been awarded by Louisiana and Mississippi to W. Horace Williams of New Orleans on a bid of $112,880.22. Bids for the superstructure of this bridge will be opened by the highway commissions of the two states February 21.

Every foot of the short-cut highway into Mississippi has been arranged for. Some time will be required for the embankment filling on the highway to settle before it can be paved, but on all of the projects work is scheduled to be rushed to completion, as the finishing date is fixed for July 1, 1933.

Dredges at Work

The McWilliams Dredging Company has three suction dredges pumping fill for the embankment at various points along the highway route.

The W. Horace Williams Company has started work at the site of each of the six bridges, including the interstate span, the company announced Saturday. False works, as construction basins, are being erected preparatory to actual construction of the bridges.

On the Mississippi side the short cut will involve less marsh construction than in Louisiana until the Magnolia State arranges to build a direct route to Lakeshore to connect with the Gulf sea wall drive.

Mississippi plans to hard surface temporarily a four-mile travel highway from Pearlport to connect with United States highway No. 90, leading into Bay St. Louis. Construction of a new highway from the point a short distance south of Pearlport where the interstate bridge is being built to Pearlport also will be necessary.

Eventual Airline

Eventual construction of the direct route to Waveland will provide practically an airline highway from the east end of the Rigolets bridge to the end of the sea wall highway which skirts the Gulf Coast.

Construction of the short-cut highway will mean the elimination of more than 20 miles from the driving distance to the Gulf Coast.

The present distance from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis is 81 miles according to a log prepared by the Motor League of Louisiana. Conservative estimates show the distance to be saved is at least 25 miles, making the total distance from Canal and Royal street to the center of Bay St. Louis less than 60 miles.

Completion of the short cut will climax a struggle by citizens of New Orleans and the Gulf coast which has been waged for more than a decade for more direct highway communication.

Began 12 Years Ago

This struggle began with construction of the embankment between Chef Menteur and the Rigolets more than a dozen years ago. Before this road was finished ferries were operated from Chef Menteur to Howze Beach near Slidell and from Howze Beach through the Chef, Little Lake, Little Lake Pass, the Rigolets and into East Pearl river.

These ferries necessitated not only a long, tiresome delay, but also the trip to Pearlport cost motorists $10 in addition to another 75 cents short ferry trip there. The trip to Howze Beach cost $5. The ferry rate from West End to Mandeville directly across Lake Pontchartrain for autos was $5.

The time required for a crossing on the Chef Menteur-Pearlington ferry was three and one-half to four hours. The ferry to Howze Beach required an hour and a half, a period in which fast drivers will make the entire trip to Bay St. Louis when the short cut is completed.

Long Ferry Rides.

These long ferry rides caused motorists driving the open "touring cars" of the early 20's to make much longer drives in going to the Gulf coast. Some drivers even went up the river highway as far as Baton Rouge, then went eastward to Covington, thence northward to Bogalusa, east to Poplarville and down to the coast over dirt roads to Pass Christian. There was no direct road to Bay St. Louis from Poplarville at that time.

With the completion of the highway between the Chef and the Rigolets and from the Rigolets into Slidell, the long ferry routes were eliminated. Shorter ferry trips were necessary, at Chef Menteur and the Rigolets, until the free bridges at those points were constructed for under the administration of the late Governor O. H. Simpson and were completed several years later.

About the same time the highway into Slidell was being constructed, bridges spanning Pearl river, near Pearl River, La., were built, eliminating the long drive by way of Bogalusa and Poplarville. These bridges were built in 1924.

Much Longer Trips

Distances given for the trip from New Orleans to Pass Christian in a story published in The Times-Picayune early in 1924 ranged from 48.5 miles, by way of the Pearlport ferry, the ferry mileage not being considered, to 291 miles by way of Baton Rouge.

In April of 1930, Governor Huey P. Long assured members of the Old Spanish Trail committee of the Association of Commerce that he was considering the short-cut route and that it would not be a toll highway.

Provisos Inserted

This promise followed receipt by the Motor League on October 15, 1929, of a letter written by J. M. Nugent, vice-chairman of the State Highway Commission, in which he said the short cut would be built if the Legislature permitted bonding two additional cents of the state gasoline tax.

When Governor Long's proposed system of paved highways and bridges, involving bonding of additional gasoline tax revenue, was presented to the Legislature, however, the short cut was not included. The governor explained that it was not practicable to include the short cut, as the route had not been selected.

Agitation for the shorter route continued and at a meeting at Bay St. Louis on December 2, 1930, the late Gen. D. Revol, representing Governor Long, announced that Governor Long was ready to go ahead with the short cut when Mississippi surfaced the Old Spanish Trail from Honey Island to Bay St. Louis.

In March, 1931, Governor Long announced he was still waiting on Mississippi to surface the highway to the coast in Mississippi. Surfacing of this highway was started in July, 1931, and was completed early in 1932.

Contracts already let on the short-

CONSERVATION WEEK IN MISSISSIPPI JAN. 30 TO FEBRUARY 3, INC.

Special Programs to Be Observed in All Schools—

The sponsors of Conservation Week in Mississippi, to be observed, by proclamation of the Governor, from January 30 to February 3 inclusive, designated Thursday, February 2, as the day during which it is expected that special programs on conservation of game and fish will be observed in all the schools. Digests of the state game laws are being supplied the schools in the hope that information contained therein will be used as a basis for such programs as may be prepared.

Knowledge of the game laws is essential to an understanding of the State's plan of providing protection, conservation, and propagation of game animals, fur animals, fish and birds. These natural resources belong to the state in its sovereign capacity, as the representative and for the benefit of all the people in common.

Wild game is not subject to private ownership, except upon such conditions and limitations as the state may impose. The game laws framed and passed by the legislature, as the representative of the people of the state, grant to individual citizens the right to hunt and kill game at such times, and upon such terms, and under such restrictions as seem proper, and provide other conditions which the legislature believes expedient, and necessary to the proper protection of game.

When the citizens of Mississippi fully appreciate and respect their own sovereign authority in regard to matters affecting the interest of game, practices of trafficking in quail and other game will cease, and the game will be studied and upheld by those who hunt, fish, or trap.

If the digests of the state game and fish laws, which the game wardens are placing in schools of Mississippi this week are reviewed by the teachers and pupils, the chances are that a very large number of the children in every school will become ardent conservationists and guardians of the wild life of the State.

BEAUTY—YOUR BIRTHRIGHT

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

WHEN you use soap and water as a skin cleanser be sure to select a mild pure soap and to have plenty of real warm water. Bathe the face and neck with the warm water. Make a lather by rubbing the soap between your hands. Apply this lather to your face, rubbing it into the skin. Now rinse with warm water. This first lather will remove the surface dirt and powder, but you must apply a second lather to get well into the pores. Rinse this off and follow with a warmer rinse until all traces of soap are removed from the skin. This warm rinse removes all dirt and waste matter from the pores. Follow with a cold rinse to tone up the skin.

If you have removed all of the soap the face will not be shiny, but if the skin feels dry, a little nourishing or foundation cream may be rubbed into the face before powdering.

Once a day is not too often to use soap and water on the face. Even if you are one of those people who prefer to cleanse your face with cream, you should use soap and water two or three times a week. It leaves the pores clean, helps to prevent blackheads; makes the skin look soft and clear, and counteracts the effect of too many cosmetics. Just be sure that you use a mild, pure soap, and that you do not leave any of it on the skin.

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

FOLIAGE AND FLOWERS BEDECK IN BEAUTY TO RIM OF GULF SHORES

Feature Writer in New Orleans Newspaper Pays Tribute
To the Mississippi Gulf Coast Where Many Gardens
Of Beauty and Variety Thrive.

By Lady Banksia, Sunday Times-Picayune

ON the coasts that encircle New Orleans with sapphire and silver, flowers creep to the water's edge and great trees shake salt spray from their friendly foliage.

Time was when the Gulf coast was a beach on which New Orleans children played. Now, between the efforts of unharassed Nature and township garden clubs the beach is a garden across which children patter on stepping stones to reach sea water "where flowers can't grow, thank Heaven!" they ejaculate.

Those bright portulacas which grip the sands like patterns in a richly carpeted between Biloxi and Gulfport are not intended to be trodden upon. True, the occasional masses of dwarf purple lupins are wild, but they are decorative, just the same. Roses will not grow on the salt sand but lupins will. They contrast well, too, with cheerful multi-colored verbenas, little wild yellow blossoms, phlox, and immense beds of petunias that householders have planted close to the water's edge and ringed about trees on the beach. One residence slope is just a coverlet of scarlet verbenas down to the highway, for verbenas take kindly to Gulf coast soil.

Grass Coaxed.

Grass, however, is seldom luxurious unless coaxed and fed on special diet, but elephant's ears (giant caladiums) and pink and white hibiscus and adlers thrive within touch of a venturesome wave and make the roadside beautiful for miles around Gulfport.

But before the energetic clubs had formulated their plans various garden lovers had made tentative gardens—some of them years ago—along their beach fronts. Dr. J. F. Detweiler, on his East Beach sands, in Biloxi, has built a flower covered trellised summer house, surrounded by flower beds through which passes the path to his bathhouse; and one steps from grassy lawn and fragrant flowers into the sea.

Just across the road from beach gardens, and especially a block or two distant from sea winds and possible salt spray, roses thrive in gorgeous profusion from Waveland to the Ocean Springs. There seems to be something along these miles of coast that roses enjoy and they grow, wherever opportunity is offered, the long stems and large buds beloved of florists. And, although many varieties flourish, the most hardy roses in these gardens are Radiance, Teas and American Beauties, which fill the townships with beauty and perfume all winter and blush upon the face of spring.

Rose Garden Attracts.

One of the many rose gardens that delights visitors to the coast is that of Mrs. Charles G. Moreau, in Bay St. Louis, which had the protection of a beautiful series of flower gardens, shrubbery, lily pools and cactus "desert" between it and the sea. But so much do roses love this rim of the Gulf that in the lovely garden of Mrs. George E. Money, on East Beach, Mississippi City, rose borders screen the beach highways and, at Edgewater, garden paths are lined with blooming roses all winter for owners of winter homes, these the Teas and Radiance varieties being most prominent.

Even poinsettias, embroidered Gulf coast walls with big red rosettes and traceries of foliage if they are planted in well-protected corners, facing south, and where they will receive plenty of sunshine. Thus grow they, as well as bananas, will remain fresh and bright all winter with only the highway between them and the beach. The Dhatura, too, flings its white trumpets to the breezes directly on beach edges, but it dies down in the winter and stands the hardest treatment without injury.

Wild Blooms Abound

Our familiar ageratum, in several shades of blue and purple, blooms almost the year through in uncultivated places along the Spanish Trail being quite as prolific on the sea sands as among purple and lavender wild asters on the soil side of the road.

Indeed, so numerous are wild flowers on beach sands, wooded slopes and fresh water streams that many people are creating wild flower gardens in their grounds. Mrs. J. B. Simmons of New Orleans and Pass Christian and Mr. J. H. Sherman of the Pass, probably have the most extensive wild-flower gardens in the town, and are constantly adding to them. Mrs. Simmons, a member of the Louisiana Iris Society, has assembled, since last spring, a noteworthy collection of native irises beside her Pass Christian lake, and here, too, Dorothy Dix is adding every color of irises to the ones sent her by the Louisiana Iris Society, while, at Waveland, as elsewhere, members of this organization are collecting both Louisiana and Mississippi species of irises in their grounds.

Plant Fashions Change

Just a few years ago no one would have planted oleanders, hibiscus, cannas and yuccas in seashore sands. Today some of the most beautiful beach plantings exhibit long rows of dwarf oleanders, snowy yuccas, cannas and hibiscus of all colors. Small pepper trees and pink and white periwinkles, adorn the sands, and beds of zinnias, which thrive beside the sea, where sweet allysum can also be grown, but not too near the water.

In his artistic beach planting at Biloxi Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ernest Lee Jahucke has shown that pittosporums are admirably adapted to beach uses, as well as dwarf boxwood and a few types of arborvitae. He, like his shrewd beach planters, has kept his shrubbery low so that neither breezes nor views may be obstructed, but just across the highway, from spreading live oaks to mansion, his garden slopes upward within a perfect riot of blooms, safe in the protection of wooded Deer Island across the narrow inlet.

Some miles westward on the trail, Mrs. E. P. W. Hubbell has created sands with bronze-foliaged cannas of many colors, dominated by red; while Mrs. John L. Heiss and Mrs. Charles McInnis, at Gulfport, have laid stepping stones through that rare beach adornment—a lawn—to the water.

Beach "Front Yard"

Few motorists along the Spanish Trail have not paused to admire the attractive beach gardens created by Mr. G. B. Dantzer and Mr. Walter Pratt, and they will tell you that Mrs. A. L. Jagoe and Mrs. (Dr.) Dan Williams of Gulfport were leaders in a movement started nearly two years ago, which, Mrs. Jagoe said, "was to make people realize that the beach is as much of their front yard as the yard itself." That was her club's slogan, and one of those who offered wholehearted cooperation was Mr. P. V. Lacoste of Bay St. Louis, in front of whose home the beach has created a high bank. Upon this, between highway and seawall, numbers of yuccas laid white spires of bloom just below pink and white crape myrtles that edge the bank. Yellow four-o'clocks glow above native plants among which vines stray from the upper slope.

Railroad Helps

Beauty-loving women found it easy to gain the interest of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which entered heartily into their beautification plans and employed experts to landscape a mile of their right of way back of Long Beach, growing wisteria, roses and other vines on fences.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

CLAUDETTE Colbert is visiting in the East but will be back in Hollywood soon to take the feminine lead in "I Cover the Waterfront."

Barbara Stanwyck and George Brent will be featured in "Baby Face," written by Gene Markey. Colleen Moore's first assignment under her recent contract with MGM is in "Lost," in which Jackie Cooper will be seen.

Diana Wynyard, young English actress in "Cavalcade" and "Rasputin and The Empress," will soon begin "Men Must Fight" for MGM. Franchot Tone's work in "Today We Live," has convinced studio officials that he is a second, Clark Gable. Joan Crawford has the feminine lead.

Warner Brothers is now "shoot" its pictures on an 18-day schedule. Under this plan, no changes will be permitted by stars or directors on the set.

Two directors are working on "The Kiss Before The Mirror." It seems that when James Whale got ready to start, he found that his former camera man, Karl Freund, had been elevated to the rank of director. Insisting that no other photographer could get the lighting effects he persuaded Freund to come back and make the picture for him.

Among those engaged by Paramount for "The Woman Accused," the story on which ten authors collaborated, are Allen Riggins, champion diver, and Herman Brix, world champion discus thrower. The ten authors will appear in the opening scenes.

Marlene Dietrich, recently sued by Paramount for $200,000 damages is back at the studio for work on "The Song of Songs."

Vilma Banky returns to pictures in a film made in Germany for Universal by Luis Trenker, the Tyrolean mountain guide and motion picture actor-director. He made "The Doomed Battalion" and recently completed "The Rebel," a Napoleonic war drama, produced in three versions—English, German and French.

Kate Smith has finished her picture, "Hello Everybody" and Paramount will soon present Bing Crosby, George Burns and Grace Allen in "College Humor."

George Arliss is said to be anxious to re-create "Voltaire" on the screen and hopes to do so this year. Other men the great English actor would like to portray are Samuel Pepys, Cagliostro and the Marquis of Queensberry.

"In 'Kong' to be produced by RKO, the story has to do with an ape fifty feet tall, who goes berserk in New York and is finally slain by airplanes as he clings to the mooring mast of the Empire State building.

BE UP AND DOING.

(School Song)

For Justice, Love and Right.
Be up and doing, laddies dear,
The morning's shining bright;
Onward and up without a fear.

Look up into the distant sky,
Where Hope smiles on the way;
Be brave, but do your best, just try,
Rainbow at end of day.

March up the steep and rocky trail,
Fighting unto the end;
Battle with cold, with storm and gale,
Honor and Truth defend.

Never give up, steady your feet,
Till safe at home at last.
Some day God's face to meet,
With Him bound ever fast.

Deaths

Death of Mrs. James H. Breath at Her Home In New Orleans Friday

Mrs. James H. Breath, former resident of Bay St. Louis, nee Miss Aline Seub, passed away at her home in Music street, New Orleans, last Friday afternoon and was buried the evening following in Greenwood cemetery, preceded by funeral ceremony at the Catholic church of the Annunciation. Mrs. Breath had been ill for quite a while and her death was not entirely unexpected. In addition to her husband she is survived by several children.

Mrs. Breath was a native of Bay St. Louis and at the time of her death was 45 years of age. She moved away from here with her family some 17 years ago, going to New Orleans where her husband engaged in business.

She was a sister of the late Mrs. Alcide Ladner, the family residing in Keller street, and was well connected. The news of her death has caused much sorrow, both by friends locally and in New Orleans.

The large funeral and many floral pieces served as an indisputable attestation of the love and esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. The Echo deeply sympathizes with the bereaved family.

DEATH OF MR. CONRAD SICK'S SISTER.

Mr. Conrad Sick and family of this city have the sympathy of many friends and acquaintances both in this city and New Orleans on the occasion of the death of Mr. Sick's sister, Mrs. Frank R. Palette, native of New Orleans, who passed away at her residence, No. 858, Taft Place, New Orleans, on Thursday, January 19, 1933, at 6:05 P. M. She was the widow of Frank R. Palette and mother of Virginia Palette. And in addition to her brother of Bay St. Louis, she is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Emma Nuloch of New Orleans.

Funeral services were held at a New Orleans funeral home Friday, January 20 and interment at Firemen Cemetery, Canal street.

Mrs. Palette was well known, enjoying the pleasure of a wide circle of friends and well was this fact testified to by the numerous floral pieces that marked the last resting place.

A SMALL BOY'S SOLILOQUY.

Ge, I'm glad it's Friday Eve,
No school for two whole days.
Nothing to do but romp and run,
And games and all other plays.

Don't even have to wash my face,
'Cept Saturday, when I have my scrub,
And that I don't mind so much,
'Cause I'm all over in a great big tub.

Don't even have to comb my hair,
'Cept when I'm sent to Sunday School,
And that ain't nothing much to do,
Just have to learn the Golden Rule.

All I do on my holidays,
Is run and jump and sing,
Play with my puppy, out in the yard,
'Til the woods with echoes ring.

Rake the yard a little while,
Pick up a little more wood,
Cut the kindlin' and make my bed
As nice little boys all should.

'Taint no use to fret and growl,
'Bout school, cause you got to go.
If you don't have to stay dressed up,
I wouldn't mind school so much,
If they'd let me take my pup.

OF SOCIAL INTEREST

(By Our Society Editor)

THE social scribe for The Echo has had much to chronicle for the past two weeks, more than the many thousands that practically occur every day either at one's home than at another. Bay St. Louis has not been socially as active for quite a long while. And this in addition to the many benefits, affairs of interest to the participants in social pleasures and pastimes.

It would appear this is racing with time and Lent, for the devout and thinking ones are well aware that while the season of rest and meditation occurs later this year than usually, nevertheless it is only a few weeks off, beginning Wednesday, March 1.

MRS. POWER'S WONDERFUL DEPRESSION BRIDGE PARTY.

MRS. Sarah A. Power, well-known and popular hostess of local society, gave the outstanding and most enjoyable party of the season in point of originality and enjoyment as well. Mrs. Power, well-known for her resourcefulness, her parties of seasons past noted for their unusualness, entertained last Thursday afternoon at what was termed a depression party and emceed the features of a "tacky" party as well since guests were expected to garb in things of other times, depression forbidden one, it was taken for granted, to own anything but the clothes of other times and styles of yesterday.

The interior of the house was fully in keeping with the scheme of depression. Plants and flowers were represented by shrubbery to which were tied numerous imitations of flowers made of paper in varied colors. Light chandeliers were decorated with strings of tin cans and in every available place where taste permitted there was some decoration of another of uniqueness and inexpensiveness. For individual ash trays, inverted oyster shells were used.

The guests arrived in due time. One party "motored" in an automobile of 1910 model, a Hupmobile 23 years old. It made the grade, but exhausted by age could not take the guests back as they had come.

Another party came in vehicle drawn by a mule that apparently had seen better days before the depression. A crowd of young people and others gathered on the outside to view the arrivals in their old and "tacky" garb. Funny but mildly expresses it.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon, prizes for successful contestants in keeping with the atmosphere and spirit of the affair.

The first prize, a baked ham, was won by Mrs. Winfield Partridge; basket of vegetables and groceries by Mrs. H. L. Kergosien; a platter of mayonnaise potato salad by Miss Louise Crawford; the "cut prize," crystallized fruit, by Mrs. J. A. Evans; consolation, a large cabbage and a portion of salt meat, by Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdene.

Guests present included Mrs. (Dr.) C. J. Buckley, Mrs. B. Butler, Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdene, Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, Mrs. George R. Rea, Mrs. J. W. Bryan, Mrs. Leo E. Kenney, Mrs. (Dr.) C. L. Horton, Mrs. P. Jenks, Mrs. Winfield Partridge, Mrs. (Dr.) A. P. Smith, Mrs. Leo W. Seal, Mrs. Harold Weston, Mrs. E. J. Leonard, Mrs. Harry Daponta, Mrs. Harry C. Glover, Miss May H. Edwards, Miss Emma Edwards, Miss Louise Crawford, Miss Evaline Lacoste, Miss Laurin Gex, Miss Anna Mae Blaize, Miss Marie Marie Quintini, Mrs. H. Grady Perkins, Mrs. Ed. J. Arceneaux, Miss Mary Perkins, Mrs. (Dr.) James A. Evans, Mrs. G. E. Ferchaud, Mrs. George E. Pitcher, Mrs. R. de Montlaur, Mrs. Edw. C. Carver, Mrs. John T. Nix, Mrs. Elia B. Maybin, Mrs. Milton Phillips, Mrs. H. L. Kergosien, Mrs. Lucien Marion Gex, Mrs. Ryland, Mrs. Stella Gex, Mrs. J. W. Kidd, Mrs. Charles G. Moreau, all costume. No guests were allowed to come in conventional garb of the day.

Mrs. Power was assisted in receiving and serving by Misses Anna Mae Blaize and Miss Marie Quintini friends of her daughter, Miss Effie Graham Power, away at college.

MRS. CLEMENCE J. CHADWICK'S AFTERNOON BRIDGE.

MRS. Clemence Jaubert Chadwick, whose charming parties have always been noted not only for their delightfulness, but as well for the beauty and correctness of every little nicety and detail, was host Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. Dick, at 313 Main street, to a bridge of four tables, and a prize awarded to the successful player at each one.

Invitations had been sent out earlier and the affair was eagerly anticipated. Such anticipations were well not in vain. The party was one of a sequence of continuous pleasure and the end seemingly came all too soon. A party menu was served at a late hour of the afternoon, following a course of refreshment served during the afternoon.

Successful high scorers were Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdene, Mrs. N. Dick, Mrs. Charles G. Moreau and Miss Fahey Smith. Each prize was of Mrs. Chadwick's handiwork, beautiful and useful embroidered creations, color work on white.

MRS. E. J. LACOSTE'S DELIGHTFUL PARTY.

Mrs. E. J. Lacoste was hostess Tuesday afternoon to a number of guests playing at three tables of bridge at Mrs. Betty Butler's on South Beach, and which a most delightful party of recent times.

Guests included Mrs. J. W. Bryan, Mrs. W. A. Staehle, Mrs. H. P. Bur-
